Warbird Event Wrap-Up By: 'Big' Jim Peterkin

I would first like to thank everyone who participated in this year's war bird event. Despite the inclement weather (rain and wind), several pilots were able to fly and had a great time during this event. I appreciate the dedicated help and participation by all of those hearty pilots who traveled from as far as South Carolina to attend this event. The invaluable help I received from Mike Palumbo, Susan Salomon and Howie Jackson as well as a few other choice members will never be forgotten. The spirit of camaraderie and fellowship is strong in those individuals and because of that, it would be an honor to host next years war bird event, if the club so desires. The fact that, despite the weather, a good sixty people showed up to support this event. This has proven to me that this club has a heart that needs to be nurtured so that we can take our place as one of the best remote control clubs in this country. You couldn't begin to imagine how wonderful a feeling it was when I saw my fellow club members and spectators enjoying our hobby at its best on that wet, rainy, windy, overcast day. It was like we created our own sunshine in the middle of a storm. When I saw Ray Gallo fly his WW I airplane over and over again and heard the crowd applaud every time he landed, I was overwhelmed with club pride and resolve. We are a powerful club and I intend to do my part to make it a better, safer club for all to enjoy. Thank you again for a chance to let our club bask in the light that is PARCS.
